

Heuser Hearing & Language Academy's
Butterfly Society

Heuser Hearing & Language Academy (HHLA), formerly known as Louisville Deaf Oral School, was founded in 1948 by the Woman's Club of Louisville and Kiwanis Club of Louisville. HHLA is open to any child from birth to age six with a hearing loss serious enough to require amplification. We also serve children with moderate to severe language and/or speech delays that require intensive educational intervention.

The Butterfly Society was formed in 2009 by the late Sug Schusterman, an influential longtime Heuser Hearing Institute Board member, to cultivate a support system for HHLA both financially and through good works of volunteerism. The Butterfly Society is open to anyone interested in supporting the Heuser Hearing Institute as part of a close-knit volunteer community. For more information, contact Pam Thompson, Butterfly Society President, at thom9156@aol.com.
